ABSTRACT

This publication highlights national and regional foundations that are most likely to fund colleges and universities to perform activities similar to those undertaken by the Office of University Partnerships' Community Outreach Partnership Center Program (COPC) of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The COPC Program provides funds to help institutions of higher learning form or expand centers for applied research and outreach to communities and neighborhoods. This publication was developed as a resource for COPC grantees. Descriptions are provided for the following foundations and trusts: American Express Foundation, AT&T Foundation, Bristol Myers-Squibb Foundation, Jessie P. Cox Charitable Trust, Ford Motor Company Fund, General Motors Foundation, Inc., Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, Joyce Foundation, W. K. Kellogg Foundation, Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, Pew Charitable Trust, Prudential Foundation, Rockefeller Foundation, US West Foundation, and DeWitt Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund, Inc. For each fund, the description includes contact information, purpose and activities, limitations, and examples of COPC-related funding. A subject index is also provided with entries for community development, economic development, education (K-12), environment, health, job training, and leadership. (JLS)

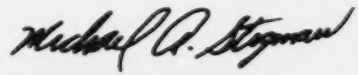
Foreword

Enclosed is a directory of foundations prepared by the Office of University Partnerships (OUP). The foundations described in the directory are national and multistate foundations which, based on information published in The Guide to Funding for Higher Education, appear most likely to fund the kinds of projects you and the other Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) grantees are undertaking. This revised and updated volume reflects suggestions many of you made after examining a draft guide prepared by OUP and includes examples of funded projects. I hope you will find this a useful reference in your ongoing COPC efforts.



Michael A. Stegman
Assistant Secretary for Policy
Development and Research

Introduction

This Guide was prepared by the Office of University Partnerships (OUP), created within HUD to bring the resources of colleges and universities to bear on revitalizing communities. Though of possible interest to many institutions of higher learning, this publication was developed as a resource for grantees under HUD's Community Outreach Partnership Centers (COPC) Program. The COPC Program provides funds to help institutions of higher learning form or expand centers for applied research and outreach to communities and neighborhoods. The foundations described here are national and multistate foundations which, based on information published in The Guide to Funding for Higher Education, appear most likely to fund the kinds of projects COPC grantees are undertaking.

Further information about OUP and the many ways in which it is helping colleges and universities fulfill their urban mission is available from HUD's University Partnerships Clearinghouse, P.O. Box 6091, Rockville, MD 20849–6091, 1–800–245–2691. Information is also available on the Internet. OUP's World Wide Web address is http://www.oup.org, its Gopher address is gopher://oup.org:78, and its e-mail address is oup@oup.org.
